This article is part of the systems administration guide. You will require administration access to view the pages mentioned in this article.

Assessments are designed and configured to your business requirements and the assessments can be created, edited and archived by your System Administrator.

For details on how to build your own assessments, refer to the Assessment Builder Guide.

Alternatively, Clintel Systems can work with you to build and develop custom assessment or convert existing forms to assessments. Please refer to the Support Guide for information.
